

Dear _____

Hello my name is _____. I hope this message finds you well. I'm writing you today because I recently was granted the opportunity to apply to travel with Knowledge on the Run this summer. Knowledge on the Run is a student travel organization that focuses on experimental education and the development of the whole student. I truly feel that I will find value in my travels this summer and that through the Knowledge on the Run framework, I will be able to further develop my interpersonal skills to aide me in my college career and beyond. I understand that travel is a privilege, but I see true value in exploring other cultures. I ask you kindly to please donate to my fundraiser so that this trip can become a reality. You're donation will allow me to partake in (Insert Trip Name) and explore (list countries visited), a truly once in a lifetime experience.

Sincerely,
